			The current internally designed and supported PHIMS system is antiquated and no longer fit for purpose.
			The new PHILIS system has been designed specifically for Port Health Authorities. It has been running successfully for 7 years and has proven to assist in securing controls at the border. It is looked upon favourably by DEFRA and the Food Standards Agency who are the central competent Authories providing the approval for Southampton City Council to operate a border inspection post. The system itself will reduce duplication of effort, meaning that data is entered into the system once and then passed to other statutory information systems. It will also allow for pre-paying of accounts by customers which is in line with the Finance Transformation Project and will save on staff time. It will also allow SCC to provide a fit for purpose modern service to port customers and allow SCC to manage the increasing volume of containers coming through the port with existing
